ABOUT ME

After spending three years working in marketing, I moved to London to complete the 12-week full-time web development boot camp at Makers Academy. Having worked with a broad range of programming languages, tools, and frameworks, I am seeking a junior front-end or full-stack position. When I am not coding or reading up on tech marketing, you will find me at a tennis court, a hot yoga studio, at a circus arts school hanging from the ceiling, or enjoying a good book.
